The Spirit drove Jesus out into the desert, and he remained in the desert
for forty days,
tempted by Satan.
He was among wild beasts, and the angels ministered to him.

Dear Friend,

It is time for our next series, and I am excited about the ones I've got planned for February 19 to November 18. It's called, "My 19th Annotation."

The Ignatian Adventure: a textbook by Fr. Kevin O'Brien, SJ.

I don't know about you, but for the last few weeks I've been making goals and resolutions, and beginning anew for 2024. Maybe this is something similar to what mode you are in right now—preparing, looking ahead, planning, and refining.

A new year provides us with a fresh start and a chance to reset our thinking about what's to come this year. As we go through this annual process in the new year, are we allowing God to be part of it? Is there room for God?

That's what this series is about—taking a look at how we can bring God into all aspects of our lives and not just some of them. It's moving God from being displayed nicely on the shelf and bringing God into the heart of our homes and the center of our lives.

Over the next 33 weeks (2/19/24 to 11/18/24), you will have the opportunity of a lifetime to find God in All things with in-person classroom study, Zoom Meetings and Home Study. You will receive an email that will include a prayerful reflection, suggested "Spiritual Exercises and reflection questions.

Some of the themes are:

Making Room for God

Readying the Space for God

Decluttering

Inviting God into the Heart of Our Homes

Living Life with God.

If you are new to our community, welcome and please join us for this series. For those of you already part of LTMTF, you are all set.

I look forward to walking with you friends, new or old, over the next 33 weeks!

Peace, Love, and Joy

God's Son, Jesus

Jesus

PS: By the way; your two facilitators are Patty and Tom Franco who have been presenting the "Lord Teach Me To Pray" since 2014. Call the CNF Central at 716-487-0125 or just stop by on Monday, February 19 at 6:00 pm SHARP, and give Me one hour of time.

Reflections

First Sunday of Lent — Clear Conscience

Usually, the first reading has something in common with the gospel. Today's however, has more in common with the second reading from St. Peter. They both talk about Noah and the ark, where the few good people were saved by going through the water. Peter compares that to the waters of Baptism, in which we are saved by God. He also has an interesting image of Jesus "preaching to the spirits in prison." It refers to the fallen angels whose disobedience led the rest of the population to turn away from God. Just as God washed away the evil of the world in the waters of the flood, so the waters of Baptism made us into a new people who have clear consciences, both because God has forgiven our sins and because we promise to follow only Him.

That leads to the Gospel, where Jesus is tempted by Satan. But unlike the people of Noah's time, Jesus does not fall to the temptations. Instead, he comes out of the desert, proclaiming that the Kingdom of God is near. He tells us to repent and believe in the good news.

That means we have a choice to make: Do we accept this kingdom and repent, or do we ignore our baptism and do what we want? We may say that we are willing to repent, but do we do anything about it? Do we still have a clear conscience when we think of how much time we spend getting to know Jesus? Ever pray or read the bible outside of church? Do we spend near as much on the poor, as we do for movies, hobbies, video games, or drinks? Do we ever tell anyone about the kingdom and what Jesus has done for us?

Next time you see a rainbow, think about the covenant that God made with Noah. Just as God's promises get better and better till the coming of Jesus, we are challenged to be more and more like Him. Are you satisfied with just a promise that God won't destroy us all in a flood? Or are you ready to live the New Covenant that Jesus promises to those who will follow

Covenant and Commitment

At first glance it may seem a little odd that the first Sunday of Lent would have a reading about God's covenant with Noah. We all know the story. God sent a flood to wipe out the earth because of their sin and disobedience and then God made a covenant with his people to never again send a flood that would destroy the earth. So why has the Church chosen this reading for Lent? Isn't Lent all about suffering, not God's loving plan for his people?

Well, I think this reading actually fits perfectly in this penitential season. Time and time again in the Old Testament we see God enacting covenants with his people, and time and time again we see human beings breaking these covenants. God wants to give his life and love and we as a human race are quick to turn our backs on him and break the commitment of the covenant.

I see Lent as a time of preparation for Easter and this Holy Feast day celebrates the culmination of the New Covenant that Christ enacted on the cross. We reflect on the suffering and death of Christ, we fast and abstain, and we pray, in order that our hearts might be more ready for the covenant that God has for us.

Instead of reliving history and breaking the small commitments God asks of us, Lent is a time to dive deeply into these commitments so that his covenant can ring true in our hearts and we will be ready for it. Even Jesus as the Son of God knew how important it would be for us to slow down and reflect on what is most important. He didn't need to spend any time in the desert, but today's Gospel reminds us that he went there anyway. He gives us the example of what it looks like to be faithful to his heavenly Father.

This Lent, I encourage you, and myself, to dive deeply. Let's allow this to be a time of purification and penance so that when Easter time comes, we will truly know what it means to rejoice.

Saint of the Week

SAINT POLYCARP (died 155)

February 23

“Eighty-six years I have served Christ, and he never did me any wrong. How can I blaspheme my King and Savior?” Boldly answering the official who demanded he worship pagan gods, Polycarp, today’s “Senior Citizen Saint,” demonstrates that courage, far from being the preserve of the young, is a virtue cultivated through life-long fidelity and crowned by final perseverance. A disciple of Saint John, who is said to have consecrated him bishop of Smyrna in modern day Turkey, Polycarp witnesses to the truth that, whatever time and space may separate us, Jesus’ gift of the Eucharist unites us. Polycarp’s final words, preserved by the Church of Smyrna, sounds like a Eucharistic Prayer in which the saint offers himself: “Lord, almighty God, Father of your beloved and blessed Son Jesus Christ, through whom we have come to the knowledge of yourself . . . may I be received among the martyrs as a rich and pleasing sacrifice . . . through the eternal priest of heaven, Jesus Christ . . . through him be glory to you, together with him and the Holy Spirit, now and forever. Amen.”

—Peter Scagnelli

The Good Book:

There was this well-meaning lady mailing a box of Bibles for her church to missionaries overseas. "Is there anything breakable in there?" asked the postal clerk. "Only the Ten Commandments," answered the lady.

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them. May they rest in peace. Amen.
May their souls and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.
