DONATIONS STILL NEEDED...

Ss. Peter & Paul Church and St. James Church are still in need of your help for two very important upgrades.

1) The Rosetta Window at the back of the church at Ss. Peter & Paul is in need of major repairs. We are asking for your help in trying to ensure that this beautiful window be restored and made structurally sound again.

2) St. James Church and Rectory are in need of foundation masonry repairs. Any donations would be tax deductible. If you have any questions or would like more information, don't hesitate to contact the rectory.

Eucharistic Minister Training

Eucharistic Ministers are needed at all parishes within our Family. If you have received all your sacraments and are interested in training for this ministry, please contact the Central Office and an application form will be mailed to you. Completed forms must be reviewed and approved by the Parish Administrator. In response to the number of people interested in this training, a date and time will be selected and you will be notified of this training session. If you have any questions or would like more information, contact the Central Office at 716.487.0125.

FUNERAL ALTAR SERVERS NEEDED

We are still looking for a few more individuals who can assist at funeral masses. Funerals may be scheduled at our churches any day, Monday thru Saturday, generally at 10am. Anyone interested in becoming a Funeral Altar Server in our family of parishes is asked to contact Doris at the central office, 716.487.0125. Training will be provided. This is a great service to the church and a corporal work of mercy.

TEENAGERS – YOU'RE INVITED . . .

Young people in grades 8-12 are invited to Making Connections: A Day for Catholic Teens on Sun., April 28th from 12-5pm at Villa Maria College in Buffalo!

Gather with teenagers from across the Diocese of Buffalo for an interactive day with national speaker and musician Vallimar Jansen! Vallimar's unique blend of proclamation, reflection, storytelling, music, movement, insights and wisdom propels faith to new heights. The day concludes with Mass with Bishop Michael Fisher.

Teens have the choice of different breakout topics and service activities during the event. The cost is $20 and includes lunch. For more information or to register, visit <https://tinyurl.com/makingconnections716>.

Nice Weather = Cookouts!!

A brand-new grill sure would make those warm spring and summer gatherings a lot less stressful! Members of Our Lady of Loreto Holy Name Society are currently selling tickets for a brand-new Weber Portable Gas Grill! The tickets are only $10 (while they last!) The drawing date is Sunday May 19th directly after 10am Mass. You can get your ticket from any of the OLL Holy Name Society members, by stopping by the central office of Catholic Neighbors in Faith, or by contacting Andy Kutchke, at (716)397-4710 to help you in purchasing a ticket. ### Randolph Central School Backpack Food Program

During the Lenten season we are asked to pray, fast, and give alms. With this in mind, we are asking our Religious Education students and parishioners to donate food for the Backpack program at our Elementary School.

Every Friday a backpack of food is given to students to help supply food for the weekend. The program currently has over twenty students signed up to receive a backpack of food.

St. Patrick's will be collecting backpack food until Easter Sunday, and then deliver the food to the Elementary School to restock their dwindling supply. The food list below is what the program currently needs:

Single serve packs of anything kid friendly can be broken up to pass out to multiple families. Please do not donate items that need to be refrigerated. Please drop any items into the boxes in the front and rear of St. Patrick's Church, Randolph. Thank you for your support!

Individual applesauce and/or fruit cups
Single serve cereal boxes
Flavored instant oatmeal

Saint of the Week

HOLY WEEK AND THE PASCHAL TRIDUUM

Sunday, March 28 - Sunday, April 4, 2010

"The days of Jesus' life-giving death and glorious resurrection are approaching, the hour he triumphed over Satan's pride, the time we celebrate the great event of our redemption" (Preface of the Lord's Passion II, Sacramentary). Thus the Church begins the one week of the year that we formally designate as "Holy." Simple rituals can link the domestic church to parish church and Church universal. Enthroned Sunday's palms where you pray, behind the family crucifix, even as part of front door decorations: "Christ reigns here," they proclaim; "all are welcome!" During the first three days of Holy Week, ready Easter clothes, prepare festival foods, clean the house, and beautify the yard. Late Holy Thursday afternoon, share Lent's final meal before the Lord's Supper Mass. Pitcher, bowl, and towel make a fitting centerpiece; perhaps conclude the meal by washing each other's feet. On Good Friday, observe the paschal fast from food—from TV and computer, too! Then come to Holy Saturday's Vigil with mind clear, stomach empty, and heart full of "holy anticipation" that bursts into living flame when the new fire is kindled. Peter Scagnelli

Palm Sunday ... With Friends Like These...

This year, we hear the Passion from the gospel of Mark. One thing unique about this reading is the emphasis on Jesus being abandoned by his disciples. First, the leaders of the disciples, Peter, James, and John, cannot even support Jesus in his agony in the garden: They fall asleep, three times. Then there is Judas, who seeks out the chief priests to make a deal with them, Peter, who denies Jesus three times, and the disciples who flee when he is arrested. The crowds who cried, "Hosanna!" a few days before, now call for him to be crucified. Even Simon the Cyrenian had to be forced to help carry the cross.

What does this tell us? With friends like these, who needs enemies? No, the point is that Jesus died specifically for these people, not because they were once friends, but because they were sinners, who needed Jesus. All but one of them ended up as saints. And the one who didn't was Judas, who gave up on Jesus, instead of coming back to him for forgiveness. When we find ourselves in sin, when we think that everything we do is wrong, or when we think we can't possibly deserve to be loved by God—that is when God can help us, if we just stop hating ourselves and start loving and trusting the Lord. It is not the time to pretend we have avoided the big sins, or to brag about some of the good we may have done. Instead of trying to convince God that we deserve his mercy, simply agree that you need his help. God loves sinners who know they need his forgiveness and don't deserve it.

But maybe you have already been forgiven and wonder what's next. Remember the ones you would not expect to support Jesus: The centurion supervising his crucifixion proclaims him Son of God. A member of the Sanhedrin gives Jesus a burial place. The women who were there to the end. These were people who did not claim to be worthy, just did what they could to show their love. Ask Jesus each morning when you wake up, "What can I do for you today?" and do what you can. Tom Schmidt

Palm Sunday of the Lord's Passion

What more can be said about today's Gospel? We hear the proclamation of this Gospel in several voices, to help us enter into these final days of Jesus' earthly life. The scheming of the chief priests and scribes before the Passover, the woman with the alabaster jar of oil prefiguring the anointing of his body for burial, Judas' plan to betray him, the Last Supper and Jesus' knowledge that he would soon be betrayed, the institution of the Eucharist so that he could remain with us until the end of time, Jesus' prediction that the apostles would be scattered and their faith shattered. And then, all the events of Jesus' profound Passion and Death.

We see his generous Heart, his agonizing Heart, the Heart that moans silently for someone to keep vigil with him for even an hour, the Heart that does not hesitate or draw back from the terrible execution for love of the Father and of us. Throughout all this long suffering, we see Jesus remaining steadfast before the will of the Father and concerned with consoling and strengthening those around him.

We also hear Jesus cry out the first words of Psalm 22: "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?" While we hear in that cry of his Heart the depths to which he was allowed to sink – to the sense of being forsaken by the Father, to the brink of despair – the psalm is really a painful prayer of hope. Jesus has certainly not given up on his relationship with the Father. He has not let go. Psalm 22 (which those at the foot of the Cross would have known well) begins with an accurate description of the scene on Calvary, from the vicious attack of Jesus' enemies, to the details of the suffering he endured, to the dividing of his clothes. But the psalm then reaches out to God to come and deliver, to save him from this torture, and then moves on to praise the Lord. In his utter agony, Jesus enters into our own suffering and reminds us to cling to hope and to continue to offer praise.

While part of Psalm 22 was heard today as the Responsorial Psalm, we might pause to pray the whole psalm some time during this Holy Week; it is a profound meditation on the words of Jesus' own agonizing Heart from the Cross. It gives us a glimpse of how low he descended into our own suffering, to redeem every last bit of physical, emotional, psychological, and spiritual pain for us.

In His Cross, because of the Resurrection, we are all freed to bear our own crosses with love and hope. By Kathryn Mulderink

Washing Other's Feet

In today's reading, Christ takes on the ultimate work of service and radical love for his disciples by washing their feet. We are instructed by Christ to love God with all our heart, soul, and mind, and to love our neighbor as ourselves. To do this, we are given vocations, or callings, where we can best serve God.

Saint Therese, Doctor of the Church, declared "In the heart of all things I shall be love - thus I shall be everything". She strove to be the bride of Jesus as soldier and martyr, doing anything and everything she could in service to her love, beginning with the smallest things, in order to make the greatest impact.

We too can offer actions of love to those God puts in our path. Whether through the vocation of marriage or holy orders, we too should strive to be saints. Christ first loved us and displayed his extraordinary love through service to me, a poor sinner. Shouldn't I then live in the same manner amongst those closest to me as well as strangers?

We must ask ourselves how we can help the vulnerable, the youngest and oldest members of society, the lonely, the poor, and the rejected. We will be judged one day on how we loved, on love alone. Do we show up? Do we say, "Here I am", to those who need us? Do we care for those Christ has entrusted to us?

God, soften my heart. Set me free from the bondage of putting myself first and instead, help me to humbly care for others, just as you have first done for me. By Alexis Dallara-Marsh

Reflections

Jesus, the Savior of the World

Our hearts sink with sadness as we recall the Death of our Lord on this day. The Church invites us to fast and pray as we seek to unite our hearts with His. We read in today's Gospel how our Lord humbled himself and was treated like a criminal, on the way to Calvary.

Today's Gospel opens up with our Lord in the Kedron Valley, where he used to meet with the disciples. He went to a garden, the very same place where Adam and Eve fell into sin thousands of years before. But this time, Jesus would not fall into sin but rather be the sacrifice and give His life up for us, so the devil would not be victorious.

Jesus was met with the cohort and guards sent by the chief priests and the Pharisees with the desire to embrace Christ like a criminal, with torches and weapons. The Pharisees were determined for Jesus to be "caught," and yet, they still didn't know Him; they didn't know His teachings, for His ways are not a way of violence and hatred but instead sacrifice and love.

Jesus proclaims to the crowd, "Who are you looking for?" and they respond, "Jesus the Nazarene." He responded, "I am He." He is the king of kings, the Lord of Lords, and the great Savior of the universe, but to the Pharisees, He was just Jesus the Nazarene. If Jesus had freely destroyed his enemies that night, he would not have solved the problem He came to this world to fix: sin. Instead, Jesus is the King of Love and will conquer hearts through love and not force or violence.

Jesus continues to lead the conversation and takes the authority of this moment; He says, "Who are you looking for?" They reply again, Jesus the Nazarene. Jesus replies, "I told you, I am He." for the third time, He affirms His identity and hands himself over freely, asking for His disciples to be let go. With that, the passion of our Lord continues. Jesus is showing us the way to heaven through humility and following the will of God.

Jesus died for each of us. He died to open the gates of heaven to us on Easter Sunday, but we need to choose to be a friend of Christ. We need to open our hearts to the Lord so that He can change them and remove anything that resides within that prevents us from loving others. Jesus desires to forgive us, but we must go to Him for that forgiveness.

Lord Jesus, thank you for the ultimate sacrifice that you made on the cross to conquer sin and death and win for us eternal salvation. By Emily Jaminet

God Does Not Make Mistakes

Today, Holy Saturday, there are no "readings of the day," but those of us attending the Easter Vigil will have more than enough Scripture to make up for it. Hearing the readings, we will see a beautiful picture of our salvation won for us in the Paschal Mystery, the apex of human history. This salvation was planned for us from the beginning of time. The readings of the Easter Vigil take us from the creation of the world through the Fall, the wanderings of the Israelites, the promise of the New Covenant, and the Incarnation and Resurrection.

This is a unique opportunity to recognize the providence of God. God had always planned to become man: He knew that we would fall, and He intended to draw us into an even greater reality than that of the Garden of Eden. The Fall did not "surprise" God. He created all things knowing what it would mean. He knew exactly what would unfold, and knew that He would bring good out of it all.

We can hear the wonders of God at the Easter Vigil and still doubt about God's preparedness, or His competence: Why would He have created Adam and Eve for them to fall, or made Abraham's descendants into a great nation for them to constantly break faith with Him? Why would He set up a new and definitive covenant knowing that there would be many who would spurn it? If He knew that this would happen, why did He allow it?

The glory of Easter gives us a glimpse into this, a glory at once confusing and illuminating. We cannot fully grasp the meaning of the death of Jesus Christ. It is hard to understand why God would want to suffer if He could have just created the world differently. But the Resurrection is difficult to argue with. The glory that Jesus shows us we can attain is blinding, more than we could ever deserve.

We may not understand why or how, but God did not make a mistake in ordering the world in the way that He did. The Vigil readings show us that He created a mosaic, full of striking turns and flashes of color that coalesce into something beautiful.
